

Fall Equinox 2020:

An online old school D&D campaign in its 15th session invites new players.

We're playing an expansive, challenge-oriented sandbox game with a stable, adult group. The campaign is friendly to casual participation and new players, but rewards skill and dedication!

The campaign is set in the original game of thrones setting of the Flanaess, exploring Gygaxian fantasy tropes, domain play, the Castle of the Mad Archmage and more. When the campaign needs a name, we call it the...

COUP de MAIN in GREYHAWK

Coup convenes weekly via Discord video call, currently on Mondays at 15:00 UTC. The text chat runs through the week; feel free to drop by for questions, chargen or rpg theory.

We're in the early days, but the technical bugs have been worked out and the game is a delight. The core group is committed but on the small side, so don't hesitate to check in. We need manpower to beat the dungeons! Name Level's the dream!

Coup developer and head referee is Eero Tuovinen.

The campaign's completely unauthorized and unlicensed by anyone. I'm barely confident we can call this shit "OSR".
